

Week 1: Population	Week 2: World Population	Week 3: Asia's Population
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Population: The number of people in a given area</li> <li>• World population: The number of people in the world</li> <li>• World population distribution: describes how people are spread out across the globe</li> <li>• Densely populated: Many people live in an area</li> <li>• Sparsely populated: Few people live in an area</li> <li>• Life expectancy: The average age of death of people in an area</li> <li>• Birth rate: The number of babies born in a year</li> <li>• Death rate: The number of people who die in a year</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Currently the world's population is growing quickly</li> <li>• World population distribution describes how people are spread out across the globe</li> <li>• The human population is not spread evenly</li> <li>• Until the 1800s the world's population grew slowly</li> <li>• In the early 1970s, the world's population reached three billion</li> <li>• In 1999, less than 30 years later, the population doubled to six billion</li> <li>• The global rate of population growth is now one billion every 15 years.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Asia is the largest of the world's continents</li> <li>• Asia covers 30 percent of the Earth's land area</li> <li>• 60 percent of the total population of the world live in Asia</li> <li>• 4,216 million people lived in Asia in 2011</li> <li>• Both India and China are located in Asia</li> <li>• China has the highest population in the world</li> <li>• India has the second highest population in the world</li> <li>• China contains nearly one fifth of the world's population</li> </ul>
Week 4: China's Population	Week 5: Reasons for a Large Population	Week 6: China's One Child Policy
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• China is the fourth largest country in the world by area.</li> <li>• It lies in the Northern Hemisphere in the continent of Asia</li> <li>• It is located in the southeast of Asia</li> <li>• The capital city is Beijing. It has a population of nearly 21 million</li> <li>• The population of China is not evenly distributed</li> <li>• High population densities in China occur in river basins</li> <li>• There is a high population density in Yangtze delta region and the Pearl River Delta region</li> <li>• China's population is currently China. 1,439,323,776</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• China's population grew rapidly from 1949 to 1980</li> <li>• The birth rate was very high</li> <li>• The death rate was low</li> <li>• During this time people began to move from the countryside to towns and cities</li> <li>• In the past the Chinese government encouraged people to have children to provide a workforce</li> <li>• In 1950 the rate of population change in China was 1.3%</li> <li>• 3% will cause the population of a country to double in less than 24 year</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• In the late 1970s, the Chinese government introduced a number of measures to reduce the country's birth rate and slow the population growth rate.</li> <li>• The most important of the new measures was a one-child policy</li> <li>• This decreed that couples in China could only have one child</li> <li>• Those who had more than one child didn't receive were fined</li> <li>• The birth rate in China has fallen since 1979, and the rate of population growth is now 0.7</li> </ul>

Week 1: Population	Week 2: World Population	Week 3: Asia's Population
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Population: The number of people in an area</li> <li>• World population: The number of people in the world</li> <li>• World population distribution: describes how people are spread out across the globe</li> <li>• Densely populated: Many people live in an area</li> <li>• Sparsely populated: Few people live in an area</li> <li>• Life expectancy: The average age of death of people in an area</li> <li>• Birth rate: The number of babies born in a year</li> <li>• Death rate: The number of people who die in a year</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Currently the world's population is growing quickly,.</li> <li>• World population distribution describes how people are spread out across the globe</li> <li>• The human population is not spread evenly</li> <li>• Until the 1800s the world's population grew slowly</li> <li>• In the early 1970s, the world's population reached three billion</li> <li>• In 1999, less than 30 years later, the population doubled to six billion</li> <li>• The global rate of population growth is now one billion every 15 years.</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Asia is the largest of the world's continents</li> <li>• Asia covers 30 percent of the Earth's land area</li> <li>• 60 percent of the total population of the world live in Asia</li> <li>• 4,216 million people lived in Asia in 2011</li> <li>• Both India and China are located in Asia</li> <li>• China has the highest population in the world</li> <li>• India has the second highest population in the world</li> <li>• China contains nearly one fifth of the world's population</li> </ul>
Week 4: China's Population	Week 5: Reasons for a Large Population	Week 6: China's One Child Policy
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• China is the fourth largest country in the world by area.</li> <li>• It lies in the Northern Hemisphere in the continent of Asia</li> <li>• It is located in the southeast of Asia</li> <li>• The capital city is Beijing, it has a population of nearly 21 million</li> <li>• The population of China is not evenly distributed</li> <li>• High population densities in China occur in river basins</li> <li>• There is a high population density in Yangtze delta region and the Pearl River Delta region</li> <li>• China's population is currently China. 1,439,323,776</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• China's population grew rapidly from 1949 to 1980</li> <li>• The birth rate was very high</li> <li>• The death rate was low</li> <li>• During this time people began to move from the countryside to towns and cities</li> <li>• In the past the Chinese government encouraged people to have children to provide a workforce</li> <li>• In 1950 the rate of population change in China was 1.3%</li> <li>• 3% will cause the population of a country to double in less than 24 year</li> </ul>	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• In the late 1970s, the Chinese government introduced a number of measures to reduce the country's birth rate and slow the population growth rate.</li> <li>• The most important of the new measures was a one-child policy</li> <li>• This decreed that couples in China could only have one child</li> <li>• Those who had more than one child didn't receive were fined</li> <li>• The birth rate in China has fallen since 1979, and the rate of population growth is now 0.7</li> </ul>